Dear Families,

I keep reminding my daughters to cherish their time with their children. Time flies in so many ways. I remember thinking, when my kids were in diapers, “oh if only I didn’t have diapers.” Flash and I didn’t. “If only I didn’t have to listen to them fight”. Flash they were out of college and on their own. And now my oldest grand -daughter is almost six. Flash. Where did that time go? And the baby is almost one...Flash where did that time go? Why is it the kids keep getting older and growing up and I don’t age? Ha! Or so I fool myself! My mother is 80 now and looks at me at 60 and says the same thing, Flash time flies! Cherishing each day is tough. So many days we look too much forward to the week-end to the vacations and to the next holiday. We miss out on the day to day fun and the day to day joys if we are in such a hurry for the next thing. Like kids looking for Christmas we miss all the adventures leading up to the one day. My dad fell down the stairs on New Year’s Eve six years ago. He broke his back and ended up having four surgeries before he finally gave up and went to heaven. I think so often about if only I had one more day with my dad! If only I could tell him one more time I love him. I know that we all have regrets but let’s try to live our lives to we never have to say, “If only...” I cherish my time with my grandkids and kids now as much as I can. I try to live each day to the fullest and accomplish it some days! So tonight tell your kids how much you love them. And your significant other, we tend to forget about that relationship when our lives are so busy with kids, that they are loved too! Thank you for sharing your kids with us! They are such a lovely bunch!

Peace, Diane

We are looking for someone or a group of people to take on a couple of playground projects. Fair Share hour opportunity! We need a load of pea gravel in the spring and need to spread it around all areas that have playground equipment. The base should be 6 inches. Also, we would like the swing set moved that is on the northern corner of the playground which right now is off limits to our students. We would like them moved closer to the other equipment. We are also in need of a garbage receptacle and a couple of picnic tables for the playground.
